RUBARU 2016

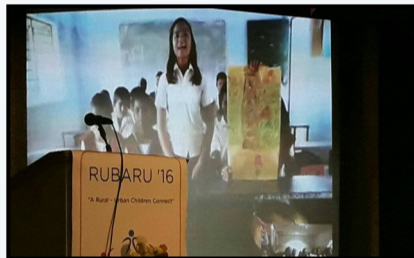

Redefining Equality and e-Quality in education is the central theme of RUBARU: a rural-urban children connect event was organized by eVidyaloka. With 250+ participative audience, the occasion was celebrated with a joint cultural performance by five schools from cities and villages across India. As a run-up to this event, a series of online student exchanges were conducted in the participating schools, cherishing the spirit of Joy of Giving (Daan Utsav -2016).

Key Speaker: Professor V. Krishnamurthy, Patron of eVidyaloka.

Among Participating Schools were: Sri Kumarans Children's Home, Indus International School.

Art Gallery included the paintings from Anitha Vishwanathan, Shilpa Balaji...

PERSPECTIVE

Ravichandran Venkataraman, Trustee

So many Akbars bring out the Krishna in us

My friend, Venkat, was thankful as the bumpy ride in to Purulia District came to an end and his car stopped over at the Chargali Village (a remote location in the midst of nowhere!!!). He badly needed to step out of the Ambassador Car and stretch. With a population of around 2500, this village has a small school with around 150 children. eVidyaloka (www.evidyaloka.org), a not-for-profit social enterprise, has set up a Digital Classroom for remote education and works with around 90 of these children providing them with high quality schooling. Education that is carried along in the 3G networks from over 110 cities across the world to remote villages like Chargali. Read More...
